WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9.

The German postoffice authorities are making extensive experiments with a view to connect the whole of Germany by the telephone.

The Dow law has knocked out of existence over 2,000 saloons in Ohio, and with those that are left the treasury has been well filled. This would seem to be good work.

Returns to the British Board of Trade show that the imports for January, compared with the same month last year, increased $2,300,000, and the exports increased $600,000.

The Madison Journal: There are hundreds of private tobacoo allies all over Oshkosh. One has been built recently at the Northern hospital. The craze having penetrated a point almost universally insane, it is thought it will die in this state.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen did a sensible thing at their Rochester meeting in condemning the action of the lodge that admitted John L. Sullivan to membership. Sullivan is enterprising and on occasions laudable and effective, but he is not a workman in a legitimate sense of the term.

The 150 yard foot race between Fred Vokes, the English ringer, and Harry Bethune, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, took place at Cincinnati Monday. The match was for $1,000 a side and the championship of America. Bethune took the lead in the start and won easily in 14 seconds, the fastest in record.

At the commencement of business this week Chicago elevators were stored with 13,900,380 bushels of wheat, 5,845,815 bushels of corn, 1,028,576 bushels of oats, 162,663 bushels of rye and 263,554 bushels of barley, making a grand total of 20,279,768 bushels against 20,890,351 bushels a week ago and 17,136,107 bushels at this period last year.

The Milwaukee Journal: Our latest advises us to the effect that some more of the name of Hon. Mr. Bartholff, of the Milton Telephone, is James, and that there are in Milton a few people so deep in Mr. Bartholff's confidence that he is sometimes called Jim; and it is further averred that while Jim is in full sympathy with the old Bartholff statue, he is not related to it.

Henry George, the would be reformer, recently gave expression to his views on the temperance question, in Brooklyn. He took the position that the best way to promote temperance was to make whisky free from taxation of every kind. No doubt all liquor dealers would agree to his proposition but it is presumed a large majority of the people will take issue with him on this important subject.

On Monday the Rev. Joseph Cook, at Boston began his new series of Monday lectures. He condemned the future probation theories of Andover, criticised Henry Ward Beecher, remarking that "he would have lived a great deal longer had he died a great many years ago," and hoped that the condemned Chicago anarchists would not be pardoned. Sam Jones and Sam Small, and Mr. Excel, of Chicago, assisted in the opening exercises.

The Chicago Journal speaks of Mrs Marion V. Dudley's forthcoming book of lectures of the literary schools as follows: "The house of S. C. Griggs, Chicago, will issue an original work of great merit, composed of essays and discussions by prominent scholars on Goethe's writings, from the standpoint of poetry and philosophy. The book will bear the title of Poetry and Philosophy of Goethe, and is to appear shortly before Easter."

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade during the past week, says: "The condition of the English wheat offered has shown no improvement, and as a result there have been slow sales and lower values both in London and the provinces. The sale of English wheat during the week were 41,971 quarters at 31 shillings 3 pence, against 67,437 quarters at 29 shillings 9 pence during the corresponding period last year. It is estimated that the deliveries of English wheat from the beginning of the cereal year 1886-87 have been 18 per cent. under those for the same period in 1885-86. Country flour is 6 pence lower. Trade in foreign wheat is stagnant. The arrivals have been heavy, and stocks are increasing at Liverpool, Bristol and London. The Australian shipments are commencing, and the new crops of the Argentine Republic, Chile and India will soon be on the way here; therefore if peace is maintained, there will be no chance for higher values. Flour is dull at unchanged quotations. Corn hardened and prices advanced 3 pence. Oats are firmer and have recovered 4 pence. To-day English wheat was in a bad condition and difficult of sale. Corn was duller. Oats were 3 pence dearer. Barley, beans and peas are unchanged."

IMPROVED GUNS AND FORTIFICATIONS.

The Senate has felt the pulse of the nation on the subject of coast defenses and an improved navy, and has acted with commendable promptness in the direction of providing for them. The two bills passed Monday by the Senate, says the Chicago Journal, appropriate in the aggregate $21,000,000, of which $8,000,000 are to be used in encouraging the manufacture of American steel suitable for heavy ordnance and armor and for the establishment of an army gun factory to be operated, owned and controlled by the government. This appropriation is to cover a period of six years from January 1, 1887, and is to be used at the discretion of the secretary of war. Considering the fact that the appropriation is for a term of six years the sum set apart for this important service is certainly not excessive. The bill also appropriates $5,000,000 for the construction of fortifications and other works of coast defense.

The other bill appropriates $8,000,000 for the encouragement of the manufacture of American steel for the modern naval ordnance, armor, etc., and for the establishment of a naval gun factory at the Washington navy yard, the appropriation being, like the other, for a term of six years.

It is not the intention of the government by this legislation to pay a bonus to those who may manufacture the steel provided for, but only to encourage manufacturers by inducing a purchaser for an expensive product if the same shall be in all respects satisfactory to the government.

The sum appropriated for coast defenses, $5,000,000 seems moderate, but perhaps it is as much as can be expended to advantage until the meeting of the next congress, when suitable appropriations for continuing the work can be made.

Upon the whole these measures appear to be unobjectionable in their main features, and should be promptly considered and acted upon by the house.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

Important Bills Introduced this Morning.

Mostly Relating to Transportation Companies.

Another Local Option Measure Introduced.

[Special to the Gazette.]

MADISON, Feb. 9th, 1887.—In the assembly this morning bills were introduced requiring products of convict labor to be labeled.

Allowing short line telegraph companies to tax the same as telephone companies—a dollar a mile.

Allowing towns, counties and villages to vote on the question of liquor license.

For levying one-half mill school tax instead of one and one-half.

Prohibiting convict labor.

Making prejudice of judge the only ground for charge of venire.

A compromise Tomahawk bill passed the assembly this morning. It prohibits improvement companies from charging over 3½ cents tolls per 1,000 feet and prohibit all tolls on logs floated by water furnished by Tomahawk company.

In the senate bills were introduced preventing all discriminations by common carriers in state. It provides that no common carrier shall grant less rates to any person or property transferred than to any other person for the same service; allows fair special rate and company employees to have passes and ministers half rates. Permit companies to carry militia and state property at reduced rates or free and to carry free for charitable purposes; punishes a violation of the act by a fine of $100 to $1,000 and costs, half of which goes to the party complaining.

The New Year Commenced with Luck.

They had invested in the 200th Monthly Grand Distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery, which took place on Tuesday (always Tues.), January 1st, 1887, under the sole supervision of Genl. G. E. Burroughs, of New Orleans, La.; and, Jan. 1st, '87, (as is nearly the case,) $36,000 were sent flying over the world. Here is where some of it went: No. 91,960 drew first capital prize of $150,000, sold in fourths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, of New Orleans, La.—one to Cornelius Beccanona, a well known citizen of St. Louis, Mo.; one to Ben Kiam, a popular clothing merchant of Alessia, Kiam Bros., of Houston, Texas; one to F. J. Gilmore, paid through First Nat'l Bank of Los Angeles, California; one to a depositor in the Canal Bank of New Orleans, Louisiana; one to J. C. Arnolds, Virginia, paid through the Anglo-Californian Bank, limited, of San Francisco, California; one paid to Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Bank, San Francisco, Cal.; one to John Campbell, North Muskegon, Michigan; one to Alvin E. Princeton, Ky.; the remaining were won in lotto. No. 36,741 drew the second capital prize of $50,000, also sold in fourths at $1 each. One went to S. P. Hall, of New Orleans, La.; one to William Whalen, a watchman at the Miss. & Tenn. R. depot, Memphis, Tenn., paid through the Bank of Commerce there; one to Charles Mitchell, of Pecan Point, Ark., paid through Bank of Commerce, Memphis, Tenn.; one a depositor in the People's Bank of New Orleans, La.; the remaining successful names are withheld. No. 88,637 drew the third capital prize of $20,000, was sold to a party in San Jose, Costa Rica, O. A. Nos. 79,773 and 99,880 drew the fourth two capital prizes of $10,000 each, and were sold in fourths at $1 each, to parties in New York City, Washington, D. C., San Francisco, California, and Santa Fe, N. M.; Baltimore, Md.; Cincinnati, Ky.; Louisville, Ky.; Memphis, Tenn.; Savannah, Ga.; Whiteville, N. C.; Newberry, Ark.; Altamont, Pa.; Fairmont, Va., etc., etc., and the wheel revolved on. It will go around again on March 15th, and any one can obtain any information about it on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. Why not catch at this chance for a fortune?

LEIGHTON'S WEAKNESS.

WILL COST BOSTON ABOUT A QUARTER OF A MILLION.

A CITY OFFICIAL OF NINETEEN YEARS STANDING HAS A FALL—AN EXPORT DIGGING DOUBLE-DYED RACQUET OUT OF HIS BOOKS—THE MONEY SUPPOSED TO HAVE GONE IN STOCK SPECULATION.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—The Advertiser prints an account of the depreciation of the municipal financial character of that city. The amount will exceed $300,000. The facts are known to not more than a dozen persons in the city, and strenuous efforts have been made to settle the matter by Leighton's friends, but the amount taken proves unexpectedly large that this course has been abandoned. An expert is now at work on Leighton's books and the city auditor who has charge of the investigation, and the amount is to be determined by Leighton's own record $220,000. Leighton has been clerk of the court since 1867, but resigned a few weeks ago. All fines, costs, and fees paid the central municipal court passed through his hands. It is said that no municipal court in the country does more business. For the first few years of his service turned over to the proper authorities an average of $71,000 a year, but from 1873 to 1880 he turned over on an average only $16,000 a year. The amount of business transacted by the court, however, has steadily increased. It is said that there has been gross negligence in the auditing of the accounts, and the responsibility for this rests between Chief Justice Parmelee and City Auditor Dodge.

Leighton's salary was $4,300 per annum. He is not a man of dissipated habits and has lived with his invalid wife in a quiet house on the Back bay, in a manner befitting his salary, and it was a mystery to the half dozen people who recently were made aware of his misdeeds what he had done with the money. He is assessed at about $14,000. Stock speculation is only another factor in the case. The police believe that he received many instructions to act in the premises as the expert's work is still unfinished. It is probable, however, that a warrant will be issued at once. It is believed that Leighton will attempt to escape. He is an old man already, and it is understood he is aware that some sort of an investigation is in progress.

Early Tuesday evening a reporter called at the residence of Mr. Leighton. That gentleman came to the door. "Mr. Leighton," said the reporter, "I am a newspaper representative. I understand that you are short in your accommodations." The reporter, however, having no money, was told to go away. The reporter turned pale and grasped the door knob, then, recovering himself, said: "Sir, if there is any shortage in my accounts I am good for it."

"But," persisted the reporter, "I understand the amount is large—$20,000. Is that a fact?" Leighton brooded heavily. "I don't know. I can't say. I won't say anything about it."

Further queries brought only similar answers, and the reporter withdrew.

Will See the Grand Jury.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Notwithstanding the fact that the grand jury of the Huntingdon court Monday failed to induce W. S. Royal in certain cases of burglary, they brought in four indictments against him Tuesday. Judge Thomas S. Atkinson Monday gave the jury until Tuesday to decide whether, on account of intimidation, they would answer or not the mandates of the court, and carry out their oath as jurors. His language was so emphatic that the grand jury brought in the above-named indictments. The peculiar action of the jury-box, saving time, over having been given the state's grand ait, was held to be a violation of the law. Royal said Tuesday night that he would institute at once suits for damages against each of the grand juries, and would put the amount of damages in each case at $10,000.

Found Out Their Names.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The World states that two ladies whose frequent appearance in public with the members of the Chinese legation at Washington has excited public curiosity are Mrs. Mrs. Lewis and Miss Carrie Longstreet. The latter is granddaughter of Police Inspector Dilks of this city. The Dilks family live a few doors from the Chinese consulate in West Street, and are on terms of close friendship with the consul and thus became acquainted with the Chinese minister and suite. Mrs. Lewis is an intimate friend of Miss Longstreet, and in this way became acquainted with the distinguished Orientals.

John Morley Says It Must Be Self-Government.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—In the house of commons Tuesday night John Morley, representing the constituency of Northampton, declared that there was no room in the empire for a state short of giving up self-government to Ireland.

The speech offered by Burnell, he said, pointed out the only possible policy under which Ireland could be governed. The rank and file of Hartington had rallied at a recent meeting in Newcastle around simply to compulsory migration or emigration, and it would be impossible to effect either of these without regard to the wishes of the people.

Jacob Bright, Gladstonian member for Manchester, southwest, said that failing to govern Ireland was no discredit to England.

The disaster was in the refusal of the government to abandon an impossible task.

An attempt to govern by force had failed in America and Canada, and would also fail in Ireland.

Giles, Conservative member for Walton division of Liverpool, defended the action of the English government in excluding Roman Catholics from the jury-box, saying it was the duty of the crown to insure the selection of jurors of independent minds.

Thomas P. O'Connor said the government had at last admitted that the accusation of jury packing brought against it was true.

Doubtless, he said, Mr. Dillon would be tried by a packed jury.

Labour Riot in Scotland.

GLASGOW, Feb. 9.—The striking miners at Blantyre became riotous Tuesday and started in a body through the streets looting shops and destroying whatever came in their way. Troops were called out and quelled the riot.

The miners' victory again assembled after being dispersed by the military and made an assault on the Stornoway prison, which they took possession of by storm and rescued their comrades who had been arrested. They made another attack upon the shops and houses, many of which were looted and left in a wrecked condition. Constables were injured in their efforts to quell the riots and defend the station house.

Swine Plague in Iowa.

MASON CITY, Iowa, Feb. 9.—A swine plague has been raging in this and neighboring counties for some time, but is now clearing. Many farmers have lost their entire herds. The nature of the disease, except that it is contagious and fatal, is not known. Within the limits of the village of New Springs, 1,407 hogs have died. Too locality mentioned is afflicted no worse than other parts of this and neighboring counties.

Rejoicing Mormons.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 9.—In consequence of the ruling of the supreme court of the United States, reverting the decision of the territorial court on the legality of the Mormon polygamy, the Mormons of Salt Lake City, and the surrounding country, Tuesday, were released from the pains of imprisonment. Lorenzo Snow was released from the penitentiary Tuesday. A great crowd of Mormons assembled to escort Snow into the city in a four-horse dray. There was much enthusiasm.

Heavy Loss of Life by Blizzard.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 9.—It is believed that thirty-five or forty lives were lost in last week's blizzard, in Detroit, one-third of whom were women.

RANDALL'S REJOINDERS.

ATTEMPTS TO REACH A MODUS VENDEI ON TARIFF REFORM.

An Argument for the Reduction of the Internal Revenue Taxes—An Ohio Town's Annexation Zeal—Marriage of Randall's Daughter—Indemnity or Chinese—Nomination Confirmed.

WISCONSIN CITY, Feb. 9.—Representative Randall and several of his revenue reform associates yesterday addressed the following letter to Speaker Carlisle:

Dear Sir: We regret especially that you could not see your way clear to give recognition on yesterday to some Democratic to enable him to move to suspend the rules of procedure so as to give us the opportunity of considering the question of the total repeal of the internal revenue tax on tobacco.

Your refusal to give this recognition, together with your letter of the 7th inst., leaves us with no alternative but to postpone the bill.

More of the houses are in favor of such repeal it was a grave responsibility for you to oppose such a large majority of the representatives of the people. Assuming, however, for the moment that the arrangement is not what the friends of the proposition constitute a less number than two-thirds, their strength is certainly such that they ought to have been permitted to test the same in the Senate upon the floor of the House.

It is especially since the country is watching with intense interest the action of the House in respect thereto, and the constituents of a large number of the members of the house have been urging them to obtain, if possible, the total repeal of the tax.

Jim Courtright KILLED by a Gambler.

JIM COURTRIGHT, Feb. 9.—The Court-right, the detective, was shot and killed Tuesday evening by the well-known gambler, Luke Short. The man had been on bad terms because of Short's suspicion that Courtright was secretly planning to testify against him. In the course of their recent conversation, Short made a remark which Courtright interpreted as an attempt to pull a revolver. Courtright sprang forward for his own weapon, but before he could fire Short had his revolver out and fired, the shot taking Courtright's thumb off and preventing him from firing. Short then fired four more shots, one piercing Courtright's heart, another the right lung, another the left shoulder, and the fifth going wild. Courtright died instantly. He was a prominent Odd Fellow and member of the G. A. R., and took a prominent part in the exciting scenes during the southwestern strike. There is great excitement over the tragedy.

We think that a revision of the tariff and of the internal revenue laws can be attained from time to time by reforming the obvious and greater anomalies of the two systems. The country is not yet prepared for a general tax on tobacco to the extent of $25,000,000, as the motion for repeal could be made in the house on Monday of this week, the latest day when it is known to be effective under the rules, were it to be carried, to meet the veto of the congress. The motion, as made during the last six days of the session, would almost certainly be too late to secure favorable consideration for the question in the Senate.

A Democratic caucus can not successfully deal with the whole subject of revenue reduction at this stage of the session. The question concerns itself with the tax on tobacco, and we do not believe that a general tax on tobacco will be introduced in the House of Representatives until the beginning of the Forty-ninth congress from the beginning of the session. The country might have much better off. *

The caucus ought now not to be invited to discuss a policy of delay and non-action on the question.

We sincerely hope with you, "that some plan may yet be devised which will enable the house to consider the whole subject of revenue reduction" and "revision."

In a spirit of fairness and interest in the welfare of the country, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we are considering for that proposition, but we are not pressing for the reduction of the internal revenue taxes to the exclusion of other measures for the revision and reduction of the tariff.

A Democratic caucus can not successfully deal with the whole subject of revenue reduction at this stage of the session.

The question concerns itself with the tax on tobacco, and we do not believe that a general tax on tobacco will be introduced in the House of Representatives until the beginning of the Forty-ninth congress from the beginning of the session. The country might have much better off. *

The caucus ought now not to be invited to discuss a policy of delay and non-action on the question.

We sincerely hope with you, "that some plan may yet be devised which will enable the house to consider the whole subject of revenue reduction" and "revision."

In a spirit of fairness and interest in the welfare of the country, we wish to call your attention to the fact that we are considering for that proposition, but we are not pressing for the reduction of the internal revenue taxes to the exclusion of other measures for the revision and reduction of the tariff.

Has increased its circulation twenty-five per cent during the past year. As an advertising medium it is recognized as reliable and effective.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE is without a rival in the country. The rates of advertising are always based upon circulation. If you have anything to say to the people of the city or county you can speak to more of them through the columns of the GAZETTE than through any other medium published in the same territory.

A WARNING TO YOUNG MEN.

Oh, you! I mentioned him! I'm free. My dear. You want the facts? He took me to the play, and he went out between the acts.

—Boston Courier.

BRIEFLIES.

—Two weeks more and Lent begins.

—The rink will be crowded this evening. —Justin McCarthy at the rink this evening.

—Spring stocks are already beginning to be seen in the stores.

—The "Cage of Ireland" at the rink this evening—Hon. Justin McCarthy.

—Shorty Ward had some of his boarders out shoeing walks this afternoon.

—This weather has caused quite a demand for ice cream, so the restaurant men say.

—The inverting of F. S. Lawrence's stock will not be finished before the last of the week.

—The Hewett-Barnes case will probably be decided on Saturday, so Judge Patten said this afternoon.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows Hall this evening—regular weekly meeting.

—This afternoon Mrs. Frank Stevens is entertaining a small company of ladies at her home in the third ward.

—Some of the Janesville sporting men were showing very gloomy faces because of the wrestling match at Chicago.

—Since to-night's lecture was announced, "The History of Our Own Times" has grown suddenly popular.

—Following on the Porter failure is the announcement of an auction sale of Mr. Porter's property on February 17th.

—Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy entertained a number of ladies at her home in the third ward last evening. The affair was a very pleasant one.

—A new register was brought out at the Grand hotel this morning, and business was so good that the first page was almost filled by ten o'clock.

—T. E. Addy appeared before Judge Patten this morning and swore out a warrant against John J. Delaney for causing a disturbance at the Salvation Army last night.

—Bader Council No. 223, Royal Annan, assemble in regular semi-monthly session this evening—lodge room in the Leppin block, East Milwaukee street.
